The Great Circus Train Wreck of 1918

Tragedy On The Indiana Lakeshore

Monday,
November 17 at 6 PM

Richard M. Lytle
Author Visit

In the early hours of June 22, 1918, a train engineer drifted to sleep traveling toward Hammond, Indiana. Soon after, the sleeping engineer's locomotive plowed into the idle twenty-six car Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Train.

More than two hundred circus performers were injured and eighty-six were killed, most of whom were buried in a mass grave in the Showmen's Rest section of Chicago's Woodlawn Cemetery. Contrary to various stories recounting the events of the train wreck, not one circus animal was injured.

Join us in welcoming local historian Richard Lytle as he retells the story of this tragedy and its role in a unique entertainment industry.
