

Java Joe's Coffee House

presents

music of the 60's to the 90's

with

Acoustic Guitarist

Josh Holmes

Sunday, March 7

1 PM to 4:30 PM

$1 cover charge (donation to the Friends of the Library)

Java Joe's is located in the Program Room of the Library

Come to Java Joe's Coffee House for a Sunday afternoon filled with nostalgia. Step back to the good part of the 50's & 60's, the heavy conversations and the music. Coffee was, and is the drink of choice at Java Joe's. The flavored coffees of the 90's merge with the memories of Espresso from the 50's to pique the mind and take us back to a quieter time of books, poetry, and music.

While you sip the flavored coffees and enjoy the delicious pastries of the day, you will hear the sounds of some of your favorite songs as Acoustic Guitarist Josh Holmes takes you on a musical journey, playing some of the favorites of the Coffee House decade before "tuning in" to the sounds of the modern music of today. Don't be shy. Clap your hands and tap your feet when the music moves you.

A Schererville resident, Josh teaches guitar at Wild Thyme in Lowell. Josh has been playing guitar for 14 years and has played for seven years with many bands in the Midwest, playing at events such as Taste of Chicago and the Indianapolis Ticket Master Competition. The Josh Holmes Band was recently formed and they have cut their first CD, "End of the Tunnel." Josh's band plays modern rock but Josh also likes blues, jazz and that old time rock and roll.

Java Joe's Coffee House is sponsored by the Friends of the Library. All proceeds will be donated to the library for non-budgeted purchases as designated by the Friends.

Special Note: Sunday hours at the library, scheduled to begin in March, have been postponed until fall. However, this kick off event sounded like so much fun, the Friends decided to go ahead and have it. Join us!
