Take a Trip Down Route 66

Join Windy City Road Warrior and well known Route 66 historian David G. Clark at the Lowell Public Library on Tuesday, April 13, at 7 PM, as he takes you on a "trip" down the "Mother Road," celebrated in word and song as an American treasure.

Clark, a Northwest Indiana native, will take you on this fascinating journey through the road's history beginning with a video montage of contemporary Route 66 scenes.

You will continue your journey across the 2,448 miles of Historic Route 66 with a video slide show that gives participants a view of the damage the passage of time and "progress" has brought to the neglected areas, cities and towns that once thrived along the route. Route 66 holds in its history many fascinating stories and legends that Clark will relate in his program beginning with its inception in 1926 to the present.

Take a "virtual tour" of Route 66 today, following the 2,448 mile route as it winds through mid-western towns and cities to the great west of New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Pre-register for Route 66, a free program offered by the Adult and Young Adult Departments in celebration of National Library Week. Call 696-7704 for reservations.

Adventures in Africa

"Over the Ocean and Through the Grass: An African Adventure," will be presented by Lowell resident Cheryl Bockstahler at the library on Wednesday, April 28, at 7 PM.

The adult program is dramatic and inspiring, Cheryl's is a story of life in Ghana and southern Uganda as a volunteer teacher and aid.

Experience the cultures of these two countries while getting a glimpse of the life of the children of the area, many who live on the streets, in orphanages, and in refuge camps, displaced from war-torn areas in Uganda and other African countries.

Included in the program are picture displays, hands-on tools and equipment used in Africa, native clothing, anecdotes, stories and authentic native food to taste. Pre-register for this free program.
