

Lowell Library Lines

July 2007

YOU CAN BUY OR SELL ON EBAY

Millions of people are making money by selling their treasures on eBay, the world's largest online auction. You can buy rare or out of print books, collectibles, memorabilia, antiques, toys, furniture, jewelry, clothes, cars, boats, or just about anything on eBay. It's also a sellers' paradise. One man's trash is another man's treasure.

Learn the ins and outs of buying and selling on eBay from members of the USPS. That's right! A team of US Postal employees from Indianapolis, Lowell, Crown Point and Hebron will teach you the ropes. You'll learn fast and easy ways to buy and sell and you'll also learn about the quick, convenient online shipping options the United States Postal Service offers to eBay users will also receive information on Express Mail, Priority Mail, and International Online Shipping discounts. Sellers want their money quickly and everyone is concerned about fraud. Learn about PayPal (owned by eBay) and ways to protect your money.

There will be two sessions on Tuesday, July 24, Come to the 11 AM or 1 PM session. Your welcome to stop by at any time between 10:30 AM to 2:30 PM, too! Bring plenty of questions! Refreshments will be served throughout the programs.

Work's Done, Time to Picnic

Summer hiatus has begun for the Friends of the Lowell Public Library. The Friends most recent project, the Children's Paperback Book Sale, has brought in over $900 in profits. The Lowell Tri-Kappas took part in manning the sale during Summer Reading Club sign-ups. Proceeds of the sale will be used to purchase prizes for Summer Reading Club and add new books to the Children's and YA collections.

Now that the work season is over, Friends members will enjoy a picnic hosted by Tom & Kathy Spencer at their Inn-Town Bed & Breakfast. New members are welcome. You can become a Friends member and help support the library. Dues are $5 per year. Pick up a membership application at the desk or call Nell Fabish at 696-7704 for more information.

The Poet's Corner

Did you know we had poets in Lowell? The NWI Poetry Society, a library sponsored group of poets, recently hosted an event featuring South Dakota State Poet Laureate David Allan Evans. From his latest book, Bull Rider's Advice, Evans recited poems of reflection on the drama of sports. In Coffee House Style local poets took to an open mike to share their works with other poets and audience members.

The group plans to hold a "Coffee House Poet's Corner" every other month at the library. It will be an "Open Mike" opportunity for beginning and experienced poets.

