

Before the Parade Passes By

Get your 79th Annual Lowell Labor Day Festival and Parade schedule at the library and its Shelby and Schneider branches. This year's event, held on Sunday, September 6, and Monday, September 7, promises to be a winner, with over 100 entries in the parade. Enjoy fun-filled games, thrilling rides, and visit over 80 craft booths and food concessions at the festival.

During the celebration, look for the Friends of the Library's booth on Mill Street and sign their Friendship Book.

Speaking of entertainment, on September 14, the Friends will begin selling Golden Opportunities entertainment books at the library and its branches. With your purchase of this book, filled with discount coupons from fine dining, casual and fast food eateries, and entertainment spots, you can save money, have fun, and help the Friends help the library.

Believe It Or Not! It's the jewel of the egg world. Come to the library's reference desk and see the beautiful ostrich egg collected by native Botswana tribesmen in the Kalahari Desert in 1996. The egg was sent to Reference Librarian Darlene Rigg for exhibit. You will also see the egg shell of the emu. Although emus come from Australia, this egg came from an emu farm in Texas.

Write for Newspapers/Magazines

Have you ever stopped to wonder how a magazine or news reporter gets his/her ideas, and if you could possibly cultivate the special skills it takes to interview a person? Or, have you ever picked up a magazine and read stories based on real-life situations that you have experienced? You want to put your own stories down on paper but lack the writing skills to make your stories interesting to other readers?

Learn the fundamentals of magazine and news writing from Susan Palmeri, author of over 100 articles in magazines and newspapers. She was selected for inclusion in the 1996 25th Silver Anniversary Edition of Who's Who in the Midwest and has conducted writing workshops for several years.

You can register now for the six-week workshop "Writing for Newspapers/Magazines," to be held at the library each Thursday at 7 PM, beginning October 1. Fee for the course is $35, due upon registration. A textbook will be needed and can be ordered at the time of registration. Class size is limited to 15, so register now.

Video Special

Enjoy the Labor Day Celebration and enjoy viewing some great video adventures.

As Good As It Gets, The Peacemaker, Hoodlum, The Full Monty, Turbulence, Blade Runner, Fire Down Below, The Phantom, Anaconda, and Freaky Friday are just some of the newest arrivals at the library. And yes, Titanic is on order for the library and its Shelby and Schneider branches.

Staff invite you to check out 6 videos at the library and its branches on Saturday, September 5, and return them on Tuesday, September 8. Remember to bring your library card.
